Poetry.

The Sleeping Beauty.

She sleeps! and roses round her clamber,
With bright red mouths and arms of amber,
Feeling for that red mouth of hers—
The sunshine breathless bends above her,
Toys with her ringlets like a lover,
Thrilling and trembling if she stirs.

The veil she wears is woven lightly,
And thro' its folds her face burns brightly,
Like to a lamp thro' some soft screen—
Her breath just thrills the air around her,
And makes the silentness profounder;—
E'en as she sleeps, unheard, unseen.

Who comes with footsteps soft to wake her?
What sweet, what smiling slumber-breaker
Trips o'er the leaves in these green ways?
Whose strange face is the daylight sunning?
What white hands hold with tender cunning
The clue to this enchanted maize?

It is her prince, her lord, her stranger,
Who comes to her through doom and danger
As ancient prophecies foretold;
The Fair, the Fortunate, the Fated,
He comes, he creeps, with breath abated
And holds the key of magic gold.

The door swings open, he beholds her
Where one bright blush enfolds her
Of rosy bloom, of gleaming rays;
He falters at the door, then blushing
He enters, voice and footfall hushing
In prayerful passionate amaze,

A moment pale as death he lingers—
Then lifts the vail with trembling fingers,
And swoons her lidded eyes to see!
He stoops but ere his kiss is taken
She thrills, she trembles to awaken,—
Her eyes are opened quietly!

She starts not for she knows the comer;—
In silent dreams through many a Summer
She hath beheld that shape of bliss;
She holds her arms out, blushing sweetly,
Surrendering her soul coopletely,
To take his greeting kiss by kiss.

O joy! the words of love are spoken,
Th' enchantment of the place is broken,
Gleam after gleam the glory breaks,
The palace gleams thro' every chamber,
The birds sing louder, the roses clamber,
And all Love's sleeping world awakes!

Selected Story.

The Mother in Law.

A good many things, some of them good, many sharp and occasionally cruel having been said of mother in laws, now comes one of that much talked of class and tells her side of the story. That she tells it well will be admitted by all who read it.

Let a widow, after a few years of most unhappy married life, I retired. with my two children, to a small town where I intended to subsist upon my very moderated means and to devote myself to the care of their education.

I think the enjoyment we have in our children before they reach the age of ten is very great. All faults and evil tendencies seem so sure to be eradicated with time, we can scarcely believe the pains we are taking will ever have any but the desired result. Those early promises are so beautiful. Every childish liking seems a talent, lacking only opportunity to develope into excellence.

My girl and boy went to school in the morning. In the afternoon we walked together and we three all enjoyed those long, rambling walks. Then our teatable and our evenings, when I read to them how delightful was our companionship. How I tried every way to sow the good seed. I have said that my means were small, but my wants were few, and I considered it my duty to make them fewer for my children's sake. I took care that they were always well dressed, often working until late at night upon their clothes, my own were plain enough. They never knew, of conrse, the sacrifices I made that they might have pleasure.

That my children loved me, respected me, I need not repeat. Their first thought always seemed to be of me. At Christmas they presented me with horrid little daub, which I still treasure, tied up in packages and date. Ah! happy days. Days when a paper of sweet cake is sufficient for happiness.

The years came when they grew tall and less dependent on me. James left school and as my means did not admit of his going to college, I obtained admittance for him into the place of business of a friend. One day I heard an acquaintance say that my son admired a Miss Benson. Then first shot into my heart that acute pang of jealousy which I had heard a woman feels when another woman dares to lay claim to her son a bitter unreasonable feeling, but strong and fierce, trample on it as you may. I asked James about it; he laughed at the very idea.

A year afterwards he announced that he was engaged to this very girl, and asked me to go and see her. I went. She was tall and very thin and stylish looking, with reddish hair. She wore a great many flounces and a great deal of jewelry of the pale gold kind. Her manners were very gracious to me, but somehow or othe. there was something about her that seemed to say she was the one who always had a right to James, while I stood out in the queer and awkward light of one whose claims upon him were very trifling and quite recent.

When I went home I sat in my rocking chair for about an hour, thinking. I had understood the formation of every kite he had ever flown, fathomed the capacities of every toy common with which he had ever just missed committing suicide, overcome the mysteries of marbles of every degree, loved every puppy and kitten he had ever adopted and taken to his heart—why could I not at least try to love this reddish haired girl? People congratulated. "Oh! yes, I was very much pleased, not losing a son at all—oh, no—only gaining another daughter." "Delightful, certainly, and early marriages are, as you say, so very desirable."

A year afterward they were married and remained some months with her family, during which time I saw her often and cannot say that I ever had any fault to find with her. Then James sought and obtained a very good position in a town distant about one hundred miles. At first the news was very satisfactory. "Charming little house, the perfection of servants;" then later, the loveliest little baby," my grandson. Then some months later, things were not quite so bright The baby had the croup, my son himself had a touch of the intermittent fever, servants were plagues, housekeeping a dreadful trouble. Disturbed beyond measure by the reiteration of these lamentations, I decided to go and see for myself how they were circumstanced, and be of what assistance I might for a short time. So one winter morning, leaving Fanny with an intermate friend and entrusting my house and all it contained to the care of one servant, I left home alone. I found the two young servants enjoying a very comfortable meal in the kitchen and the baby asleep alone in a chilly nursery. My son and wife were out spending the evening with some friends. Their surprise and pleasure at seeing me on their return home appeared great. Upon conversing with Maria the next day, I found her to be very ignorant as regarded baby's requirements. "He does cry so dreadfully," she said. I stayed there a month; perhaps it was too long, but there always seemed to be something for me to do. I took charge of the little creature whenever his mother wanted to spend an evening in company which was not seldom. Many and many, a lonely hour did I spend in that dimly lighted room listening to that low breathing, rather than trust him to the awkwardness of the young girl who professed to fulfil the duties of a child's nurse. I did a great deal of sewing for Maria, of whom I became fonder than I had ever expected to be.

James had a relapse of his intermittent fever. His wife knew nothing about sickness, I nursed him—I who had never known fatigue when he had needed anything in former years, would surely not fail him now. I sat up with him night after night, and showed the cook how to prepare nice dishes for him, such as I knew he liked—that is to say, I prepared them while the cook looked on. Whatever was wanted up-stairs or down I was the one to plan and to do. At last I began to think I ought to return to Fanny; and seeing James fairly convalescent, I sought the train for my journey homeward. Sitting in the railroad car, a party of young people took places in front of me, laughing and talking with eager admiration about persons I knew nothing of except by name. Presently one of them began to talk about my son's wife.

"I used to see a great deal of them at one time" she said, "but—"

"But what?" asked another.

"Oh! well, they had a mother-in-law raging around lately, so I have kept away."

"So have I."

Here followed a laugh of derision.

"A mother-in-law!" exclaimed another; "that is hard; I do pity them, indeed."

"But I hear she is off now."

"Glad to hear it. Have you heard the new opera,"

I was the mother-in-law on whose account friends kept away. I remembered the weary nights in that sick room; the weary days, when, suffering from the loss of sleep, I struggled to keep my eyes open, that I might attend to the various little household duties. All this was the "raging around" which excited the risible muscles of those lively young people. I thought of Fanny, her good looks, her intelligence, her affectionate nature, and found myself wondering what her future was to be. But here we are. There she was waiting to meet me, dear child; but there was some one with her, a most insignificant looking individual, with very prominent eyes and large whiskers. Why did my heart siuk with a melancholy foreboding.

How glad she was to see me again. She introduced her companion to me as Mr. Jenkins; and whereas I was all anxiety to be alone with her, Mr. Jenkins, with a great flourish of politeness, walked all the way home with us. Before I could untie the string of my bonnet, he told me that Fanny had promised to marry him. I was thunder-struck, having, in annoyance of his presence forgotten my foreboding of half an hour before. I had read with much attention, in various highly lauded books, of the great and imperative duty of bringing up a girl to be a helpmeet for a noble man—this dapper little manakin! He seemed amiable, but so utterly insignificant. He had uninteresting parents, and weak plain sisters, all of whom made a perpetual amusement of the engagement. My parlor was given up to them entirely—that is, to him and his sisters. I seemed always detrop when I entered, judging by the sudden silence which followed the animated talk. My coming was an interruption. I began to sit up-stairs. I always walked along.

Having avoided all society and all acquaintanceship when my children were young, that I might devote my whole time to them, I found myself now friendless and desolate. Friends, like plants, must be cultivated. I found no congeniality in either of the two families with which my children were connecting themselves.

After two years they were married; and after a year of boarding aspired to the dignity of keeping house. After looking at many dwellings one was selected, one which required a great many repairs, and now my services were in very great request. I attended to all the directions Mr. Jenkins wished given to the workmen; I stayed in the cold empty rooms all day, when there was nothing to sit on but an empty candle-box. I did the necessary quarrelling with the plumbers, and bore the snubbing of the upholsterers and I put the furniture in the places I thought best by degrees changing it all to suit his tastes. I washed all the china and glass; and sometimes fancied, when I got dirty doing all this that I was happy. I had so long been accustomed to work for those I loved that it was hard to learn that there might be any reproach connected with it. I must do Fanny the justice so say that she was very kind and grateful to me.

On the last day, after having some cold tea out of a pitcher on the corner of a mantlepiece, I overheard Mr, Jenkins, who had brought a friend in to admire his new dwelling, say-

"Well, the carpets are down, the furniture is all here, and I think now when we get our servants, and engage a baker and a milkman, and are entirely rid of the mother-in-law, we shall be ready to move in."

Both children married, I had the solitary little house to myself and very solitary it was. I tried to get up some spasmodic friendship with my neighbors, but being hollow, these forced intimacies soon fell through. But I oughtn't to complain; it is the way of the world.

I only wonder if considering the love we have for our children, young or old, the world is not apt to be a little hard upon the mother in-law.

The following sparking dialogue is represented by the London Punch as taking place between a lady and a gentleman duing the dreary half hour before dinner: "Dining at Lady Laburnum's to morrow?" "Ya-a-s." "So am I." "So glad!" "So glad you reglad?" "So glad you're glad I'm glad!!!"

"My dear Mrs. Miffkins, your darling Emma is a perfect seraph. She has your eyes and her father's hair." "Now I see, said the darling Emma, "it's because I've got pa,s hair he has to wear a wig."

Miscellaneous.

Wicked Waste.

The most bountiful giver that ever trod the earth was also the most scrupulous economaiser. Jesus, with infinite resources upon which to draw, never wasted anything. No thoughtful housewife was ever so careful. An easy exercise of almighty power multiplied a few loaves and fishes sufficiently to furnish a feast for famishing thousands; and whenever like occasion should arise, he could repeat the miracle; and yet, to our amazement, he directs his disciples, "Gather up the fragments that remain, that nothing be lost."

This is but a single illustration of the whole economy of the Divine government. God saves everything, utilizes everything. Not an atom of matter has ever been lost since the Creator spoke it into being. Water "dries up," wood "burns up," and air is "used up," in the visible combustion of fires, and the invisible combustion of lung furnaces, and bodies decayed and are decomposed, but not a particle is destroyed. All the elements are preserved, and enter into fresh forms of life and beauty. God, infinitely rich is infinitely careful in husbanding resources; while man, pititully poor, is, of all God's creatures, the most wickedly wasteful.

The true philosophy of living is saving. This is the secret of wealth. Whether a man shall be rich or poor, depends not upon the amount of money he makes, but the amount he saves. And herein lies the fallacy and folly of the communistic argument, which is to the effect that the man who saves shall be ever more diving out with the man that wastes, so that there may be something like equality of goods.

This is the secret of successful scholarship—of broad and varied learning. Most men that can read at all, in this age of books and periodicals, do read enough to make them walking encyclopedias of all useful and entertaining knowledge. But they put it "into a bag with holes"—they do not treasure it up and save it.

This is the secret of longevity. The most precious of a man's possessions is his vital energy. He has only so much of it. He can no more afford to waste it than a beseiged garrison can afford to waste its amunition by random and reckless firing. He has enough for all life's legitimate uses, but not an ounce to spare. There are thousands of men that use themselves up, and that hurry to untimely graves, because of the prodigal waste of their physical and mental forces.

And then as the sum total of a man's life-work. Have you never been amazed at the amount that some men, somehow, have been enabled to perform? How much they learned—how much they wrote—how widely they traveled—what results they achieved! You cannot understand how they ever found time to do so much. You imagine, at least, that they drove through under tremendous pressure. They did no such thing. They never would have burst their boiler and broken down. They were among the quietest of men. They knew how to save themselves, and how to save all the fragments of time. They were simply economical of energy and opportunity.

What Water is.

On a certain occasion one Paul Denton, a Methodist preacher in Texas, advertised a barbecue, with better liquor than is usually furnished. When the people assembled, a desparado in the crowd cried out, "Mr. Paul Denton, your reverence has lied. You promised not only a good barbecu, but better liquor Where's the liquor?"

"There!" answered the missionary, in tones of thunder, and pointing his long bony finger at the matchless double spring, gushing up in two strong columns from the bosom of the earth; "There!" he repeated, with a look terrible as lightning, while his enemy actually trembled at his feet; "There is the liquor which God, the Eternal, brews for all his children. Not in the simmering still, over smoky fires choked with poisonous gases and surrounded with the stench of sickening odors and corruption, doth your Father in Heaven prepare the precious essence of life, pure cool water; but in the glade and grassy dell, where the red deer wanders and the child loves to play, there God brews it; and down, way down in the deepest valleys, where the fountain murmers and the rills sing; and high up on the mountain tops, where the naked granite glitters like gold in the sun, where storm clouds brood and the thunder storms crash; and out, out on the wild, wide sea, where the hurricane howls music and the big waves roar the chorus, sweeping the march of God—there he brews it—beverage of life, health giving water. And everywhere it is a thing of beauty, gleaming in the dew drop, singing in the summer rain, shining in the ice gem, till they seem turned to living jewls; spreading a golden veil over the sitting sun, or a white gauze around the midnight moon; sporting in the cataract; sleeping in the glacier; dancing in the hail shower; folding its bright curtains softly around the wintry world, and weaving the many colored iris, that seraph's zone of the air whose warp is the rain drops of the earth, and whose woof is the sunbeams of heaven; all checkered over with the celestial flowers of the mystic hand of refraction—that blessed life-water. No poison bubbles on its brink; its foam brings not madness and murder; no blood stains its liquid glass; pale widows and starving children weep not burning tears in its depths! Speak out, my friends, would you exchange it for the demon's drink, alcohol?"

The Herald of Philadelphia wisely concludes that it is idle to talk of reform in school books until teaching itself be reformed, and says it is time that teachers learned that the most valuable lessons that can be instilled into the mind of youth are not to be found in books and that their senses may be profitably employed in other ways than by con

OUR SIXTH VOLUME.

To day we begin the Sixth Volume of the NORTH CAROLINIAN. It entered the arena of journalism at an eventful period in the history of the State and Nation, and, as announced at the time, with the great central object in view of aiding to develope the resources and build up the material interests of this Albemarle country. It held that wealth is the product of industry; that no riches can be created without it; that labor should be elevated, not degraded, and that all the productive agencies which are the life of civilized nations, should be encouraged and advanced. How earnestly and devotedly it has kept its promise in this great work its readers can bear testimony. Contrasting the present with the past, the retrospect is not discouraging. The fruits of these five years of labor and effort are visible on every side.

But the work is not completed—it is only commenced. In a country where nature has done so much and Man so little, we feel the importance of keeping up the "agitation" until all the latent elements and forces so bountifully made ready for use are brought into full requisition. Then we will have a country second to none in the civilized world. With unwavering faith in this grand possibility the NORTH CAROLINIAN will continue its advocacy of better farming, improved machinery, better transportation, increased manufactures, more schools, immigration with capital and energy and brains—everything calculated to develope and improve and build up. And we ask, may confidently expect the hearty cooperation of every man who desires to see the sun of prosperity rise and shine, full and clear, upon this beautiful portion of the "Old North State."

In politics the NORTH CAROLINIAN will continue to be Republican. It believes that the peace, prosperity and future welfare of the people will be best assured with the State and National Administrations in the hands of the Party whose creed is the amended Constitution of the country and upon whose banner is emblazoned the motto "Equal and exact Justice to All." It will ever aim to remain high toned and dignified. It will advocate its principles boldly, plainly and fearlessly, but in doing so it will not intentionally offend any one nor do any man an injury.

We have nothing to add except it be to say that now is the time for all our old patrons to renew their subscriptions, and we will proceed to our work and labor faithfully that each one of them may receive full value for his money.

An agricultural paper recommends a quart of brandy to cure the staggers.—Ex.

WILL NOT TRUST THEM.

That the Democratic Party are "joined to their idols" is a fact which recent events prove beyond a question, and it is equally evident that no proposition looking to any abandonment of the most ancient of their landmarks will be taken. They propose to renew the struggle for power under the banner so long carried, and with a warmery inspired by the same motives and ideas which actuated their leaders before the war of the rebellion,

Now the question comes up in the minds of serious men who have in the past cooperated with that party, "Is this wise?" They will remember that even two scores of years ago when the doctrines of CALHOUN were so acceptable to the majority of the Southern States, they were not acquiesced in by the Democrats of the North. But these doctrines were made the rule of action by Southern men, and the war followed. The result of that conflict was the settlement of certain political issues by the sword and thier removal from the field of party strife. To attempt their reopening and revival is the extreme of folly.

And yet this is the purpose of the modern Democracy. The theories of the Constitution as held by their ante-bellum leaders are being put forward as the principles of their present political warfare. But it will prove a signal failure. It will bring down upon it an avalanche of popular disapproval. The wrecks and disasters of the past fourteen years will be again repeated. The men whose names and career are associated with enmity to the Union will find that the time has not yet come for them to lead. They will find that they utterly misrepresent the sentiment of a vast majority of the people of the United States.

One thing is most certain—the people at large propose to hold and occupy the country whose cost to them in blood and treasure has been so great, and they will trust no party which does not cordially accept the decision and settlement of the war.

"LET WELL ENOUGH ALONE."

It is the part of wisdom to "let well enough alone." When things are working smoothly, and satisfactorally, and right it is folly to attempt change.

Take our Congressional District. We have a Representative the people all know. He has been faithful, has been watchful of the people's interests, is thoroughly familiar with their needs, and has acquired the experience that will enable him to serve them as no new man can. A change cannot better us—it might very much injure us. Everything is working well. Let it alone

So with the Judgeship. Everybody admits that we have an able, impartial, incorruptible Judge. He is an ornament to the Bench and reflects honor on the District. He gives entire satisfaction. Then why change? "Let well enough alone."

As with Congressman and Judge, so with Solicitor. We now have "the right man in the right place." Policy as well as wisdom require that we keep him there.

Then those who would carry the idea of well enough alone out to its logical results will vote for COBB for Congress, ALBERTSON for Judge and BAGLEY for Solicitor.

THE JUDICIAL CONVENTION.

The Republican Judicial Convention was held at Hertford on Wednesday last. As we predicted Hon. J. W. ALBERTSON was unanimously nominated for Judge and WILLIS BAGLEY Esq., for Solicitor. Better nominations could not have been made. Both of the gentlemen have been tried and have met every responsibility and duty with signal ability and unflinching fidelity. They have won the respect and confidence of the people and they will be elected by fair majorities.

We learn that the proceedings of the Covention were unanimous and harmonious, excepting an attempt to introduce foreign and extraneous matter which was promptly rejected. Quite a number of the leading Democrats of the District were in attendance, manifesting unusual interest, and itching to have a hand in manipulating things. But they failed in being gratified. The Republicans of both the Congressional and Judicial Districts are perfectly competent to manage their own affairs, and they propose convincing even the most stolidly skeptical of the fact both in their Conventions and at the ballot box.

The talk about social equality is all nonshine. Is any man fool enough to believe that he cannot regulate his own social associations, go where he may? Is any man so lost to his own self respect, be he rich or poor, that is not indignant at the idea of being told that he is, will or can be "forced," in every relation of life, to live on terms of equality with any body, white or black? Even had the Civil Rights bill passed, it contemplated no mixed associations of the people socially. No law ever can regulate a man's social associations.

The suit of ALFRED SELF, representing certain landholders, against D. A JENKINS, State Treasurer, was tried in the United States Court at Raleigh, and the decision of Chief Justice WAITE is adverse to the plaintiff. The case has been dismissed.

The Times, published at Enfield, has been purchased by P. H. WINSTON Jr. and MOSES GILLAM of Windsor, and will hereafter be published at the latter place under the title of The Albemarle Times.

A CORRESPONDENCE OUR

Proceedings of the Judicial Convention.

According to previous call a Convention of the Republicans of the First Judicial District of N. C., was held at Hertford, on Wednesday the 17th day of June, 1874, for the purpose of nominating candidates for Judge and Solicitor for said District.

The Convention was called to order by Geo. W. Cobb Esq., of Pasquotank the acting Chairman of the Judicial Executive Committee of said District.

On motion Elihu A. White, Esq., of Perquimans was appointed as temperary Chairman and Robert Fearing, Esq., of Pasquotank as Secretary. The object of the Convention having been explained by the Chairman, he then announced that the Convention was ready to proceed to business.

On motion a committee consisting of the following gentlemen was oppointed to report on credentials and permanent organization: John Sampson, of Currituck; J W Etheridge, of Dare; Ivey Roach, of Pasquotank; Josiah Nicholson, of Perquimans and E Holley, of Chowan. Mr Nicholson on behalf of the committee on credentials said that they had unanimously agreed to report and upon examination the following delegates were entitled to seate in the convention:

Currituck—John Sampson.
Dare.—J W Etheridge.
Pasquotank—Geo W Cobb, R Fearing and Ivey Roach.
Perquimans.—Josiah Nicholson, John Q A Wood, John H Cox, W H Gunn, E A White, W H Overton and David Sumner.
Chowan.—A M Moore and Elias Holley.

D McD Lindsey, proxy for Gates.

No delegates from the other county.

On motion the report was adopted.

The committee on permanent organication reported J W Etheridge, of Dare as Chairman and J Q A Wood, of Perquimans as Secretary, which report on motion was adopted. Mr. Etheridge having been escorted to the chair made a brief speech thanking the Convention for the honor conferred, and trusting that its action would result to the best interest of the party, the Convention was declared permanently organized.

On motion the following resolutions were adopted:

1st. That this Convention hereby denounces the act of the last Legislature, by which this Judicial District was attempted to be gerrymandered for political purposes, as unjust to the people, and tending to bring the Judiciary into disrepute, and it deserves the severest condemnation of the people at the ballot box.

2nd. That the members of this Convention hereby re-iterate their devotion to the principles of the Republican Party and stand pledged to carry out these principles.

On motion the Convention proceeded to nominate a candidate for Judge. The name of Hon. J. W. Albertson, of Perquimans, was placed in nomination, and he having received all the votes was declared unanimously nominated. On motion the Convention next proceeded to nominate a candidate for Solicitor. The name of Willis Bagley, Esq., of Perquimans was placed in nomination and he having received all the votes was declared unanimously nominated.

On motion a committee consisting of E A White, Geo W Cobb and R Fearing was appointed to wait on Judge Albertson and Mr. Bagley informing them of their nomination and request them to address the people. In a short time they appeared escorted by the committee and Judge Albertson in a pertinent and feeling speech accepted the nomination and pledged himself to be as faithful and impartial in the future, in the discharge of his official duties, as he has been in the past. He was followed by Mr. Bagley, who accepted the nomination and entertained the Convention with a highly interesting and pointed speech in which he urged unity of action and deprecated the efforts some demagogues were making to bring caste into the already excited arena of politics.

On motion it was ordered that the proceedings of this Convention be sent to the NORTH CAROLINIAN and Raleigh Era for publication.

On motion the Convention adjourned.

What a Railrod Would do for the Albemarle District.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

According to the census of 1870 the average valuation of the improved lands of Norfolk, Co. Va., was $59,82 per acre, while the valuation of improved lands of Chowan Co., this State, was $14,80, of Perquimans Co. $16,66, of Pasquotank Co. $28,57, of Camden Co. $15,22 and of Currituck Co. $12,88 per acre. The average value of farm products per acre was, in Norfolk Co. $15, 60, in Chowan and Perquimans $11,20, of Pasquotank $15,31, of Camden $9,60 and of Currituck $10,37. According to the above valuation of products, and taking the valuation of Norfolk Co. as a standard, the valuation of lands for Chowan and Perquimans counties should be $42,56, of Pasquotank $58,17, of Camden $36,48, and of Currituck $39,41 per acre.

Is there any good reason except the lack of shipping facilities, that prevents the lands in our State, in the counties named, from reaching the value and price of lands of less fertility in other States? Should they not be able to command as high a price as the best lands in any State not more remote from the large seaport cities?

With the proper railroad communications Norfolk will in a very few years rival Baltimore as a market, and as a shipping port. This is no idle prediction. Norfolk harbor is the natural seaport of a great portion of the South and Southwest. Its geographical position is better than any other port on the Atlantic coast. It has no rival Southward and no superior to the North in natural advantages of location, water and accessibility. It is the favorite resort of vessels of the largest class. And when a full system of railway lines shall be completed down the coast with arms reaching to the interior of the country and the Southwest the growth of Norfolk will equal if not exceed the surprising development of the great interior cities of the Northwest. Imagine the effect not only upon the value of your property and products of your farm, but upon the general convenience it would afford should a city of the dimensions of Baltimore or Chicago spring up within a distance averaging not more than forty-five miles from these counties. This is attainable and within a very few years, if a persistent effort is made by those whose interests lie in its accomplishment. In 1850 the population and trade of Chicago was less than that of the Port of Norfolk in 1870. Now the population of the former city exceeds 300,000 with a trade of a corresponding magnitude.

The improved lands for 150 miles around Chicago lying within ten miles of the railroad lines range in price from fifty to seventy-five dollars per acre. his is the result of the system of railways of the Northwest. What railways have done for Chicago, and indeed for St. Louis, Cincinnati, Detroit, Millwaukee and numerous other cities of the West and the country in their respective vicinities would be secured to Norforfolk and this district, and even for a long distance to the South and Southwest.

Our lands lie neglected and at a greatly depreciated value for the want of better facilities for reaching the best market of the country.

We all are selling our products of the farm and forest at a disadvantage for the want of quicker and cheaper transportation. Our business men and merchants are not able to compete with those who are within reach of the iron rail and lightning news carrier.

We are bearing a heavy burden at a great disadvantage. Shall we continue to do so, or make an effort to bring the means of relief and prosperity within our grasp? Let the effort be made and now. And a very short period of time will bring not only relief for the burdens we bear, but the busy hum of trade and smiling prosperity throughout our land.

PROGRESS.

A Suggestion.

CAPE HATTERAS Dare Co. N. C., June 15th 1874.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

As Col. S. T. Carrow of Beaufort has declined the nomination for the Senate from the 2nd District, it will be necessary to make another nomination before the election in August. I would suggest to the Republicans of the District the name of Jno. J. McGowan, of Hyde as a suitable and deserving man for the position. Mr. McGowan has been zealously at work in the interest of the Republican party ever since the war. He was one of the founders of the party in North Carolina, but living as he does in a county where his party is largely in the minority he has not had a fair opportunity to make the display he would otherwise have made. As we have no time to lose in making this nomination let me ask that some prominent Republican from each county in the District, make known as near as he can through your valuable paper the choice of his county for a candidate to aid Maj. Crookston in the canvass this summer. So that we may know who is the strongest man; and let me head the list with the name of John Jordan McGowan, of Hyde as the choice of Dare. Very respectfully,

ATLANTIC.

The Civil Rights Bill

ROSE DALE, N. C., June 20th, 1874.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

I thank you for publishing the Civil Rights Bill in your last issue. In this neighborhood we had heard so much about it that we began to conclude it contained something monstrous and that it was an attempt to enforce, by Congressional enactment and Federal bayonets, social equality between the black and white races. We see that it don't even squint that way. After carefully reading it we see that it is only an attempt to fully carry out the provisions of the 14th Amenement to the Constitution which is "the fundamental law of the land."

This can hurt no good citizen, and as it can't hurt, there is no earthly reason for being frightened at the bugaboo stories circulated by demagogues who live and thrive on keeping up needless excitements.

PAIN-KILLER!

TIME TESTS THE MERITS OF ALL THINGS.

Thirty Years is certainly long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and that the Pain Killer is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it, is amply proved by the unparelleled popularity it has attained. It is a sure and effective remedy. It is sold in almost every country in the world, and it needs only to be known to be prized, and its reputation as a Medicine of Great Virtue, is fully and permanently established. It is the great Family Medicine of the age. Taken internally, it cures Dysentery, Cholera, Diarrhoea, Cramp and Pain in the Stomach, Bowell Complaint, Painters' Colic, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, Sudden Colds, Sore Throat and Coughs. Taken Externally, it cures Bruises, Boils, Felons, Cuts, Burns, Scalds, Old Sores and Sprains, Swellings of the Joints, Toothache, Pain in the Face, Neuralgia and Rheumatism, Chapped Hands, Frost Bitsen Feet, &c.

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at anytime to come upon us. Therefore, is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used on emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agony of pain, or the depressing influences of disease. Such a remedial exists in Perry Davis' "Pain-Killer," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar regions, or beneath the intolerable and burning suns of the tropics its virtues are known and appreciated. And by it suffering humanity has found relief from many of its ills. The effect of the Pain-Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of Cough, Cold, Bowel Complain, Cholera, Dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in case of Burns, Bruises, Sores and Sprains, Cuts, Stings of Insects, &c., and other causes of suffering has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Call for Perry Davis' Vgetable Pain-Killer, and take no other.

THE DAILY GRAPHIC

The only Illustrated Daily Newspaper in the World.

With its issue for March 4, 1874, THE DAILY GRAPHIC entered upon the second year of a career phenomenal in the history of journalism. Its story of a twelvemonths has been a steady and unquestioned growth in popular acceptance as the most original, artistically luxurious, and wonderfully comprehensive metropolitan journal ever published in the United States.

As a brilliant novelty, the whole country has confessed its unique attraction; as a practical and marvellously complete Newspaper, it has become a daily necessity to the social and mercantile interests of one of the largest permanent constituencies ever attained by a journalistic enterprise in the same period, while its great specialty, beyond all actuality or hope of competition, as has been the wonder, delight, and new education of individuals and homes in every State of the Union. In the very idea of such utilization of the finest pictorial art, for every day's information and reflection, there is all the charm of a romance; and the realization of that idea, made visible in THE DAILY GRAPHIC, is a practical and ever-varying assimilation of the most fascinating Ornament with the commonest Use which never palls upon even the most pampered taste. From the first issue the successive multitude of its pictures has been a perfect study of mechanical and journalistic development; the inevitable early imperfections of artists and others, not yet thoroughly trained in the new process, disappearing steadily in an as steadily increasing accuracy and beauty of artistic effects. Indeed this very illustration, from day to day, of the Times' spirit of progress in Art, as well as in Events has been an added and piquant interest, which is yet to be maintained for the public by unending future "Graphic" improvements. Scarcely more, however, for its beautiful portraits, trenchant cartoons, vivid news-etching, and unequalled reprodnctions of the world's choicest works of art, than for its unrivalled attractions as has THE DAILY GRAPHIC been nationally recognized and popularly welcomed. Its genuine editorial independence, wide sweep of intelligence, ever-varying department of literary and personal interest, sparkling correspondence and pungent criticisms, make it as much a favorite in the sanctum of the great Western or Southern or Northern newspapers as in the counting-room and the family circle.

A SUPERB PICTORIAL MIRROR
DAILY HISTORY,

NEWS, SOCIETY, AND LITERATURE.

THE DAILY GRAPHIC is an Eight page Paper, published every afternoon (three editions), in time for the erly mails to all parts of the country.

THE DAILY GRAPHIC has a larger average circulation—more copies printed and sold each day—than any other evening paper in New York excepting only the [penny] News

THE DAILY GRAPHIC is a great newspaper, as well as the only illustrated daily paper. It has special correspondents everywhere, and it has a larger staff of writers and news-gatherers than any other evening paper in New York.

THE DAILY GRAPHIC is preserved for binding by hundreds of its readers in city and country. The annual subscriber gets a Pictorial History of the Year, a volume of twenty-four hundred pages, constituting a valuable record of events and a graphic panorama of our time and progress.

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to bear the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the Blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases orighnating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

THIS WEEK'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

Kentucky Library
The Daily Graphic

Local and Personal.

☞ Dare County Court is in session this week. A number of our lawyers are there.

☞ The Republican Senatorial Convention meets in Elizabeth City to-day.

☞ The account of the closing exercises of the School at Oak Grove, Perquimmons county, is crowded out.

☞ Read the article on our fourth page upon the virtues and properties of Ammonia.

☞ If nothing untoward happens, the crop of this Albemarle country will excel any previous year.

☞ Do not fail to read the practical communication on "What a Railroad would do for the Albemarle District."

☞ The latest New York quotations are: Gold 111, Cotton 18c, Corn 90c. At Norfolk, Cotton 16, Corn, yellow 87c, white 93c.

☞ More than the usual area in flax was sown in this county this year. It promises well and will prove a source of income at a time when most needed.

☞ A corporation known as the Baltimore and Roanoke Steamboat Company has been organized at Plymouth, this State.

☞ One of the first results of a railroad is to bring population. As this is increased trade is built up, and with trade comes prosperity.

☞ Every man, woman and child in this and adjoining counties should prepare to have something ready for exhibition at the Agricultural Fair at this place this fall. The time of holding it will be announced in due season.

☞ Amusing incidents will occur; for instance when a pair of young cooing innocents purchase a plate of ice cream and consume it with one spoon! This is not a reflection upon the refreshments, but rather more upon the spoon-ies.

☞ It is amusing to see the Democrats patting IVEY ROACH, the colored "bolter" on the back, and to hear them encourage him to stay in the field. They hope to use him to pull the hot pea nuts out of the fire. What do they care how much he burns his fingers so they get the roasted pea nuts?

☞ Do not equivocate. Speak out like a man. Be honest and truthful. Scorn to say one thing and do another. Deception and duplicity are the meanest things any one making pretensions to decency or honor can practice. ACHILLES, of ancient Greece, felt strongly on this subject and he expressed himself in strong language, blasting liars as with a thunderbolt. Said he:

"——I hate with perfect hatred,
Hate him like the gates of Hell
Who within him one thought harbors
While his lips another tell."

☞ Our correspondent from Rose Dale but gives expression to the feelings entertained by hundreds of others since reading the text of the Civil Rights bill! Even had it passed they see there is nothing in it to frighten anybody. Its provisions have been most grossly misrepresented by the Democrats. But they have over done the matter. Their falsehoods, like chickens, are coming home to roost. The people begin to realize that they have sunk down to the depths referred to by SHAKESPEARE:

"Past all shame, so past all Truth."

☞ The "Metropolitan Life Insurance Company," of which P. H. WELSH, of Gatesville, is Agent, is one of the most reliable in the country. It does business on a safe plan, is always prompt in paying its policies and has established a reputation of the highest character. As we said in a former issue, we have studied this subject considerably and in comparing the "Metroplitan" with most other Companies our judgement induced us to change from one we were in and to make application through Mr. WELSH for a policy in it.

☞ Men of capital and judgment never locate in a country where there are no prospects of railroads and telegraphs. Because of the lack of these great agents of modern civilization we have had hard work to induce this class to settle in this country. Let our people now put their shoulders to the wheel and aid the Elizabeth City and Norfolk Railroad Company in vigorously pushing forward the enterprize to successful completion and we will have hundreds of the class our country needs coming among us where before it was difficult to secure one.

☞ Instead of injuring the boating interest here a Railroad will benefit and improve it. Make Elizabeth City a commercial centre and shipping depot and it will keep all the steamboats and sailing vessels busy carrying freight from and to the hundred points all along the rivers and waters of this Albemarle country. The people have no conception of how a railroad will develope the Fisheries, the Trucking, the Agriculture and the manufacture of Lumber. It will more than quadruple the business of this whole country by opening up points at a hundred places where now there is nothing done. Steamboat stock and vessels that now scarcely pay any dividends will then be at a premium. This is our honest conviction.

☞ Col. S. T. CARROW having declined the nomination for Senator in the Second District, a correspondent suggests the name of JOHN J. MCGOWAN Esq., of Hyde county. A good man.

☞ When you hear a couple of men using some of the strongest words of the Dictionary it does not always follow that they are indulging in special terms of endearment; nor when you see them accompanying their remarks by a movement of their hands with the fingers folded under each other's noses it must not be ironically taken for granted that there is any ottar of roses or some such perfume on the knuckles. On the other hand these manifestations indicate that unless some one backs down there'll be a fight, and probably somebody will get whipped. Then follows a law suit, and work for the lawyers, and costs. To-day we are only pointing to a moral, not adorning a tale.

☞ A gentleman from Currituck writes: "Send me the CAROLINIAN. I have been reading stray copies for some time and I have become convinced that its position on politics and material progress is the one calculated to promote the best interests of our country. My former doubts and prejudices are removed and henceforth I am a Republican. Hon. C. L. COBB will receive at least 150 more votes in this county than he did two years ago." We have the same cheering news from other parts of the District. By the way, the friends of political Truth and material Development could very much aid them both by exerting themselves in giving our paper a still wider circulation.

☞ We never go out of our way to attack any one who does not give us casus belli. The mere fact of a man being a political opponent is no reason why we should make him a target for newspaper criticism. We concede, nay respect his right to act and vote as his judgment dictates. Nor do we feel justified in indulging in severe strictures upon men because they are made candidates by the opposition so long as they do not invite it. But when any of these throw down the gauntlet by publicly assailing our candidates, wantonly attacking our party or willfully misrepresenting its principles we feel that we are but performing our duty in calling them to an account, and we will do so fearlessly.

☞ We are called upon to announce the death of Gen. H. G. SPRUILL, which occured at this place on Saturday morning last. He had been confined to his room for over a year, suffering from a disease of his extremities making locomotion impossible. His general health, however, remained good and his mental faculties clear up to a very short time before his death. He was well known throughout Eastern North Carolina, having represented his native county, Tyrrell, in the State Senate from 1836 to 1842. Since the war he has resided most of the time in this county. We formed his acquaintance soon after our location here. He took an interest in our paper because, as he often said, he saw in it an agency to advance the material prosperity of the land he loved. He contributed a number of interesting articles to our columns, the last one in our issue of the 6th of May. We feel that we have lost a frank, open hearted, honest friend. He was in his 66th year of age. His remains were taken to Plymouth for interment. A fuller notice will appear in our next issue.

SEEING IS BELIEVING:—If'd this liberal age there are persons to be found who are so blinded by prejudice are not to believe that a man medicated stimulan is an item of immense importance in the catalogue of human remedies, we should like them to witness the wonderful effects which Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are now producing all over the country in cases of intermittent fever, rheumatism, billious disorders, dyspepsia nervous complaints, constitutional depility, menta depressions and premature decay. The great vegetable invigorant and cures have been before the people for more than twenty-five years, and in every year of the twenty-five its popularity has increased and its sale has become larger. Yet there are no doubt many thousand of intelligent citizens who have never had an opportunity of observing for themselves the surprising changes which this unequalled tonic and alterative produces in systems which seems to be hopelessly broken, and in cases of diseases which are not amenable to ordinary remedies. Probably many of these regard the statements made in relation to the sanitary properties of the Bitters which some degree of incredulity. Would that all such skepticks could see with their own eye what the medicine is doing for the sick and feeble everywhere, what a stiff of life it is proving to tethery and infirm, what a help in times of trouble to feeble women suffering from the complaints and disabilitie peculiar to the sex, what a protection to health and lif in malarious districts, what a panacea for languor and depression, what a specific for all diseases in which the system requres to be vitalized and sustained. Of all stimulants it is the purest and safest of all tonics the most genial, effective and agreeable, of all alterative the least violent and the most certain in its beneficial results.

TWO AMERICAN MAGAZINES.—The excellence of AMERICAN MAGAZINES has become so well recognized abroad that one of the leading English Papers, the LONDON WEEKLY REGISTER, in a recent issue,-thus speaks of SCRIBNER MONTHLY.

"We are constrained to own that SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY carries off the prize against all shilling monthly serials for brilliancy of illustrations and variety of contents. It is simply a wonderful shilling's worth. Nothing can be more charming than the cuts,—full of force and vigor; the light and shade are managed with a truly artistic power. Out of its one and twenty original articles, we really do not know which to choose as best, for each and all are excellent."

Not only is it true that Scribner's Monthly excels the English Magazines, but it is "The Best of the American Monthlies."

In the extent, variety and artistic excellence of its illustration of American themes, it has never been even approached, much less excelled. It has a large page and gives a greater variety in its contents than any other of the Standard American Monthlies.

In literary character, and in the brilliancy and ability of its Editorial Department, it enjoys an equal pre-eminence.

Its conductors started with the definite aim of making it the best magazine in the world, of which they have for a moment lost sight, and they point with pride and pleasure to the May and June numbers, recently issued and ask for them a candid examination and a careful comparison of their merits with those of other magazines; and they renew their pledge to the public, to strive for still higher excellence in the future.

A considerable demand has recently arisen in England for Sir. Nicholas, Scribner's New magazine for boys and girls, one publisher desiring to secure an edition of three thousand of first bound volume (when completed) with his imprint.

The success of St. Nicholas in this country has been even more remarkable than that of Scribner's Monthly. It is pronounced to be "an ideally perfect Magazine for children" and, as is the case with all the best litterature for children, it has been found to possess surpassing interest for grown-up readers, as well.

The influence of the periodicals of the day can scarcely be estimated, especially upon the rising generation. Parents and teachers cannot afford to be indifferent to this influence, or careless in relation to the character of the literature furnished to the children outside of their school lessons. In St. Nicholas not only are History, Natural Philosophy, Literature, Fine Arts, and Manufactures presented in an attractive way to young readers, but the children are stimulated to seek information for themselves,

The Publishers will send to any address a specimen number of St. Nicholas, postage pre-paid, on receipt of ten cents, the bare cost of paper and printing. The magazines are sold by all firstclass Booksellers and Newsdealers, everywhere.

Keep Ammonia in the House.

No housekeeper shou'd be without a bottle of spirits of ammonia, for besides its medical value, it is invaluable for toilet purposes. It is nearly as cheap as soap, and its cheapness brings it within the reach of all. Put a teaspoonful of ammonia to a quart of warm soap suds, dip in a flannel cloth, and see for yourself how much labor it will save. No scrubbing will be needful. It will cleans and brighten silver wonderfully; to a pint of suds mix a teaspoonful of the spirits, dip in your silver spoons, forks, etc., rub with a brush and polish with a chamois skin.

For washing mirrors and windows it is very desireable; put a few drops of ammonia on a piece of paper and it will readily take off every spot or finger mark on the glass. It will take out grease spots from every fabric; put on the ammonia nearly clear, lay blotting paper over the place and press a hot flat iron on it for a few moments. A few drops of water will clean laces and whiten them as well; also muslins. Then it is a most refreshing agent at the toilet table; a few drops in a basin of water will make a better bath than pure water and if the skin is oily, it will remove all glossiness and disagreeable odors. Added to a foot bath it entirely absorbs all noxious smell so often arising from the feet in warm weather, and nothing is better for cleansing the hair of dandruff and dust. For cleaning hair and nail brushes it is equally good.

Put a teaspoonful of ammonia into one pint of water and shake the brushes through the water. When they look white rinse them in water and put them in the sunshine, or in a warm place to dry. The dirtiest brushes will come out of this bath white and clean. For medicinal purposes ammonia is always unrivaled. For the headache it is desireable stimulent, and frequent inhaling of its pungent odors will often remove catarrhal colds. There is no better remedy for heartburn and dyspepsia, and the aromatic spirits of ammonia is especially prepared for these troubles. Ten drops of it in a wine glass of water are often a great relief. The spirits of ammonia can be taken in the same way, but it is not as palatable.

Grafting Potatoes.

The idea of grafting potatoes for the purpose of uniting the good qualities of two different varieties, was introduced to my notice through the columns of the Rural New Yorker about two years ago. I must confess I had but little faith, but concluded the best way to determine the value of the idea was by actual test. I commenced by selecting a specimen of the Early Rose and another called the Cherry Blow, a potato of dark red color, and but very little earlier than the Peach Blow. I removed the eyes of the Cherry Blow, by cutting out a piece of oblong shape running to a point. In these cavities I inserted the eyes of the Early Rose cut out in the same shape, fitting them in nice and binding them with bass strings. The first year I succeeded in saving but one tuber. The following spring I cut this one in single eyes, planted in good soil, gave ordinary cultivation and about the 1st of September harvested nearly a peck of good sized potatoes, possessing the characteristic of both the original varieties in this, that they were earlier than the Cherry Blow and later than the Early Rose, and color about a medium between the two. I think by selecting for seed each year those partaking of the nature of both varieties, I will have a potato superior to the Peach Blow in one respect—it will be earlier. J. R. SCOTT.

We cut the above from the Rural New Yorker, and would ask, can it be true? says the American Rural Home. If so, our ideas of the bud's controling the the fruit must be considerably modified. It has long been contended by some that the stock affects the fruit to some extent, to intensify or moderating its characteristics, but we never before heard it claimed that it would change varieties. We think it will require further experiments to establish the principle.

Practical Hints.

Lime should be applied when dry slacked and caustic, on a dry day, when the land is dry enough not to lump it, and be well worked in with a fine harrow. If there are many lumps will rapidly disappear by exposure to the sun and air.

Clean the harness. Unbuckle all parts and wash well with soft water. Turpentine or benzine will remove gummy substances. Warm the leather and then oil well with a paint brush or swab. Neat's foot oil is the best. Hang the harness up until dry.

It is said that a plaster made of fresh slacked lime and fresh tar is sure cure for a cancer, which, with all its roots, will soon come out.

A single drop of the sequipede chloride of iron put on a corn between the toes once a day, with a camel,s hair brush, will effect a marvelous cure.

One half teaspoonful of salt in four teaspoonsful of water will regulate a disordered stomach, to be repeated two or three mornings, before breakfast.

To disperse freckles, take one ounce of lemon juice, a ½ of a drachm of sugar mix and let them stand a few days in a glass bottle till the liquor is fit for use, then rub it on the hands and face occasionally.

To Destroy Red Ants.—Put one pint of tar in two quarts of water; let the water be hot when first poured on the tar, and set this in an earthen vessel. Place it in closet or wherever the ants are, and they will quickly disappear.

There is a curious and remarkable family in Davenport Iowa, consisting of ten brothers, and only one poor, little sister. However, perhaps she does not need our sympathy, since, from the particulars which we have of her, she does not appear to be of the lowspirited sort. These boys and this girl are announced as "natural born scientists." They cultivate a form; they teach school; they collect geological and entomological specimens; they manufacture curious mechanical toys, and, above all, they edit, print, and publish a monthly magazine. We only hope that papa and mamma are both living to enjoy the triumphs of this goodly progeny.

"Observing the transit of Venus" was what John Henry told his mother when she asked him what he had been doing to keep him out all night.

As an excuse for rejecting a widower A fair young damsel informed a friend that "she didn't want a 'warmed-over' man."

A New Jersey paper boasts of a new subscriber one hundred and three years old. We shouldn't call him very new.

CURED BY POND'S EXTRACT

(J. N. H.)

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of Vinegar Bitters?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of Vinegar Bitters in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs in Bilious Diseases.

If men will enjoy good health, let them use Vinegar Bitters as a medicine, and avoid the use of alcoholic stimulants in all cases.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Grateful Thousands proclaim Vinegar Bitters the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the fabling system.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no other remedy equal to Dr. J. Walker's Vinegar Bitters, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc., etc. In fact, as in all other constitutional Diseases, Walker's Vinegar Bitters have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of Walker's Vinegar Bitters occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Jaundice.—In all cases of jaundice, rest assured that your liver is not doing its work. The only sensible treatment is to promote the secretion of the bile and favor its removal. For this purpose use Vinegar Bitters.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE.

OF VALUABLE

NORTH CAROLINA LANDS,

FOR SALE BY

GEORGE D. POOL.

Real Estate Agent,

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C.

In presenting my list of lands and other properties for sale, I would say that no section of the United States offers such inducements for capitalists and emigrants, as this section of North Carolina. In longevity and healthfulness, it will compare favorably with any where; and in easy and cheap transportation of products to market, in pleasantness of climate, in the adaptability of the people, in great fertility, and durability of soil, no section can equal it.

A railroad will soon be built to Norfolk, putting this place in direct communication by Rail, with the whole United States. This, together with our great fishing, farming and manufacturing interests, and certain early completion of already projected works of improvement for putting in nearer, cheaper and easier communication with the Ocean, will render this one of the most important commercial, and manufacturing points on the Southern country.

A desirable house and lot in the town of Elizabeth City on the corner of two principal streets, the principal one, and situated in the best business locality in the town. The lot contains about two acres of land, and the buildings consist of a fair dwelling three stories high, containing eight rooms, all in good order, another two story building with four rooms and pantries, dairy, smokehouses, stables, &c. The dwelling has a good cellar under it. There is room on the front lot to erect two good stores, and they would occupy the best stand in the town for merchandize.

A farm of 700 acres in Pasquotank County 10 miles from town, with fine two story dwelling, large barn, kitchen and other outhouses; as also, two other dwellings. barns and other houses at different points on the farm. This farm is all cleared but 150 acres, is free from swamps and other waste land, and is well adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, &c. The price is 14,000 in easy payments.

A farm of 500 acres in Pasquotank County, 6 miles from town, and one mile from the River, with good new dwelling built in modern style, barn, stables, four tenant houses scattered over the farm, fine water, &c. This farm is situated on the most public road in the County, has 800 acres cleared and balance in splendid pine, oak, cypress, maple, sweet gum, and other valuable timber. It is peculiarly adapted to raising cotton, $50 per acre, net, having been realized on a part of it this year in cotton. It also grows corn, wheat, oats, and other crops well. Price $12,000 in easy payments.

Two tracts of land lying on Pasquotank River four miles from town, neatly cleared, and in good cultivation, one contains 1,000 acres, and the other 600 acres. Both have good fisheries, and the land is equal to any in this section. Price $20.00 per acre in easy payments. Also several smaller tracts for sale, ranging from 50 to 100 acres each, at low prices, and on easy terms.

Also two fine farms in Pasquotauk county, 10 miles from E. City, within half mile of church, school house and post office. One tract contains about 400 acres, with fair buildings and mostly cleared, and the other contains 300 acres, with good two story dwelling, large barn, and other outhouses, both are offered at $20 per acre, one third cash, balance in one and two years.

Three farms—one of 100 acres, one of 80 acres and one of 190 acres, within two miles of town, mostly cleared land. Price $20 per acre for each tract—payments on easy terms. Also many other valuable farms and town lots too numerous to mention.

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

HAS MADE THE MOST ASTONISHING CURES: SO QUICK, SO RAPID ARE THE CHANGES THE BODY UNDERGOES, UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF THIS TRULY WONDERFUL MEDICINE, THAT

Every Day an Increase in Flesh and Weight is Seen and Felt.

Every drop of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT communicates through the Blood, Sweat, Urine, and other Fluids and Juices of the system the vigor of life, for it repairs the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, Syphilis, Consumption, Glandular disease, Ulcers in the throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumorous discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin diseases, Erysipelas, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm and all wastes of the life principle, are within the curative range of this wonderful Modern Chemistry, and a few days use of it will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them.

If the patient, daily becoming reduced by the wastes and decomposition that is continually progressing, succeeds in arresting these wastes, and repairs the same with new material made from healthy blood—and this the SARSAPARILLIAN will and does secure—a cure is certain; for when once this remedy commences its work of purification, and succeeds in diminishing the loss of wastes, its repairs will be rapid, and every day the patient will feel himself growing better and stronger, the food digesting better, appetite improving, and flesh and weight increasing.

Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT excel all known remedial agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous, Constitutional, and Skin diseases; but it is the only positive cure for

THE GREAT BALOON.

You've heard about the great balloon,—
In which Professor Wise
Proposed to go to Europe,
By sailing through the skies,
He proposed to show the people
A quicker way for trips
Than ever had been known before,
By sailing o'er in ships.

Well everything seemed lovely
Upon that Autumn day,
When they began to pump in gas
To bear the barge away.
They pumped and pumped with all their power,
And things seemed nigh adjusted—
When there came an awful crash,
And the mighth bubble busted.

It's ever thus in human life,
Go whereso'er we may,
The darkest night will oft succeed
The brightest, sunniest day.
There are exceptions to this rule,
Where all the days are fair,—
For one, go down to Johnson's Hall,
You'll find things all right there.

We've thought it best in cases like this,
This little fact to mention;
You need not ferr that they'll inflate
Beyond their power of retention.
And when they undertake to go
Their geer's so well adjusted,
They'll move straigh forward to their work,
With no fear of being "busted."
